THE DANGERS FROM ELECTRIC CURRENTS

EX-GOVERNOR CORNELL SENDS A POINTED LET-TER TO MR. HEWITT. Ex-Governor Alonzo B. Cornell has addressed

cond letter to Mayor Hewlit in regard to proposed prohibition of high-tension electric currents within the city, replying to Mr. Hewitt's letter. Mr. Cornell

Your suggestion that it is "premature to discuss the subject" of legislation to problem dangerous electric cir-cuits within our city surprises me greatly. At least three human lives have been sacrificed the present year he consideration of measures to prevent the recur of such fatalities as premature! What public interes is more important or urgent than the preservation of human life! Only last month a lady was killed in Twen ty-third-st. by a car having no conductor, and straight way the Common Council enacted an ordinance prohibiting ars without conductors in Twenty-third-st., and thereby cars without conductors in Twenty-tailiness, and we won the plaudits of a grateful community. Who will pretend that our lives are more seriously endangered by street cars than by cleetric wires bearing circuits of such intensity as to instantly kill any person coming in contact with them? When a cholera-infected ship enters our harbor the strong arm of the State holds her in quaranties of the streng harbor has been exterminated. tine until every vestige of disease has been exterminated. We do not hesitate to protect life and property by arrest ing suspected criminals in order to prevent apprehended depredations. Why should we be less vigilant in guarding the public welfare when dealing with the question of

Was it regarded as "premature discussion" when an honest Governor denounced the canal plunderers and de- Howard Meyer and step-daughter of Mr. Randall. showent? Was it " premature" when a great newspaper unmasked the gigantic robbery of our municipality? And yet what are such grievances when He robbery? On the contrary the conspirators were pr ecuted with all possible severity and their calling was prohibited by additional safeguards of legislation.

Instead of discussing the advisability of prohibiting the more terrible, and connot be guarded against by ind the more terrible, and connot be guarded agreed by viduals. Our city is a network of wires; telegraph, telephone and other electric wires fill our streets until the very sunlight is darkened by them. The accidental crossing of a high-tension electric-light wire with a telegraph or telephone wire instantly throws the dangerous current. into our dwellings and business offices. Thus hundreds of unsuspecting persons are daily expeed to instant death quite unconscious of the fact that they are within ti range of a high-tension effective. Patting the electric wires underground, Mr. Cornell thinks, would be only a partial remedy. He recognizes a difficulty in dealing with this troublesome question in the fact, which he alieges, that a large proportion of the most accomplished electricians are employed or retained by the great electric light companies. The National Electric Light Association, which the Mayor eloquently welcomed when it began its recent session in New-York, Mr. Cornell says, was composed principally if not wholly of electricians directly employed by or interested in the various electric light companies throughout the constra. For this reason, he says, they cannot be depended upon for a frank and honest offulon as to the extent of the danger menacing the community. He concludes with the declaration that no question of the day so nearly concerns the cliftons of New-York or their personal welfare and safety as does the entire prohibition of the fatal high-tension currents, and in his opinion no man charged with public duty will perform his full obligation who temporizes with the subject or ignores it.

The will of Frederick Rullman, which was filed for probate yesterday, was executed on December 19. 1883. It had been kept by him in his private vault it was taken on an order granted by Surrogate Ransom by the testator's son Frederick Rullman, fr. There is no mention in it of Amelia Matyka, the pretty musician from Vienna, with whom he becam acquainted sixteen years ago, and whom he married on his death bed at Mannaroneck on Angust 31. Catharine Rullman, his first wife, who died since the will was signed, was to receive under it the income of the estate which was to be divided at her death between their two children. Chelida's Catharine Henrietta Augusta Rullman and Frederick Rullman, jr. Closifica's share at her death goes to the children of Mis. Ellen Miller, another daughter of the testator, to whom are given ait his claims against her husband, James W. Miller. This daughter is "absolutely barred from any and all participation" in his estate except as thus provided.

THE "DARK SECRET" DISCOVERED.

CAPTAIN ANDREWS RETURNS ON THE NOR-HIS COMPANION NOT APPRECIATED BY HIM.

The dory Dark Secret, in which Captain William

arrived in New-York harbor yesterday. August 19 the dory was sighted by Captain O. H. Bjonness, of the Norwegian bark, Nor. After being signalled by the Nor, Andrews steered for her; and, when near enough, asked for fresh water and pork. The captain of the Nor, however, insisted upo coming on board his vessel, which he did. When there he first realized in how weak a condition he was from lack of nourishing food. In consequence of this and of the lateness of the season, as he himself said, he concluded to abandon the attempt to reach his destination, and to accompany Captain Bjonness, who was bound for New-York. He arrived here looking as if he had recovered his strength, but was somewhat depressed on account of his failure.

One of the crew of the Nor told a story of the seaserpent having been sighted by the captain, and gave that as a probable reason for his return. He said five persons by the overturning of the steam yacht that it was seen on August 15; that he passed to lee ward of the serpent, which appeared to be of a dark-brown color, with its head shooting above the water. There was a smooth sea and a light breeze blowing, and it was impossible to estimate its full length, as it was going in the same direction at the rate of probably two and one-half knots an hour. It was understood that Captain Andrews was to have joined the "Dark Secret" Company, now playing at the Grand Opera House on his return, in case he had been successful. He started for Boston last night.

SUICIDES BY POISON AND A ROPE.

Hanging from a window-bar in a room on the fourth floor of the tenement house No. 102 Eighth-st., early yesterday morning, was found the body of Frederick filler, an old German tailor. He had committed suicide Miller's wife died a few months ago in the night. and he went to live with a married daughter in the Eighth-st. house. Less than two months ago the husband of Annie Wurzburger committed suicide in First-st. After the funeral Mrs. Wurzburger went to live with her mother and sisters at No. 174 Rivington-st. On Sunday she was obliged to leave the house, after a quarrel with er unmarried sister, Lena Rubin. Lena was so much affected by her sister's conduct and subsequent depart affected by her sister's conduct and subsequent depar-ure that she was mable to go to her work in a Wooster'st, cloak factory on Monday. That night she sat up late, and at about midnight her groons awole the family. It was learned that she had swallowed some rat poison. An ambulance carried her to the Gonverneur hospital, where it was said yester-day that she was likely to die.

FAILURE OF AN OLD HOSIERY FIRM. William H. Thorne, George K. Carroll and John W. rooks, composing the firm of Thorne, Carroll, & o., wholesale dealers in hoslery at No. 372 Broadway, made an assignment yesterday to Horace E. Dresser, giving preferences for $20,408, the largest eing to the Tradesmen's National Bank, $13,500; A. C. Macdonald, $3,897; C. C. Valentine, $2,876 state of Isaac Cock, 82,200. Mr. Thorne also made an individual assignment. The house is one of the ldest in the trade, having been established in 1854. The style was formerly W. H. & L. C. Thorne but was changed to the present style after L. C. Thorne was changed to the present style after L. C. Thorne retired in 1873. The firm formerly did a large builness, claiming a capital of about $200,000 in 1883, but for some years they have gradually fell behind, and Bradstreets took away their rating some time ago, as their credit had become much impaired and their solvency was questioned. The firm have always been a respectable one, and have the sympathy of the trade in their misfortune. Creditors who called yesterday expressed their desire to help the firm on their feet again.

TO CONTROL HOWARD MEYER'S ESTATE. Justice Patterson has confirmed the finding of the sheriff's jury to the effect that Howard Meyer, the son of Christopher Meyer, is insome and has appointed Oils W. LABORERS DISAFPOINTED ABOUT THEIR PAY. A lively scene took place in the City Hall in Long Island City yesterday. Seventy-six laborers employed layigan to get their wages for last week. Directly after o'clock City Treasurer Hickwenn's office was besieged with the laborers. The Treasurer, acting upon the advice of the Common Council, refused to honor the warrants that were drawn by the Mayor, and much indignation was expressed by the men, who went home without their pay.

The trouble is differences between Mayor Gleason and the Board of Aldermen. It was understood that the labor-ers would hold an indignation meeting, but as Mayor leason is attending the convention at Buffalo, further action was postponed until Saturday, when the Mayor will duty collected on each article. There is a bits' introduction reciting all the tariff acts ever passed by congress, the object and result of each one being explained. Also, a table of the total imports, year by year, from 1701 to 1887. This little pamphiet is accurate, was prepared with great labor and expense, and will be required continually for reference during the year. It shows how America flings for millions all over the world for foreign labor and products, even under the present tariff, and how importations were turreased by the reductions of 1883.
